Cohn's Carpets.

M. Cohn seems determined to carry the war in New Jersey if necessary in the matter of carpets. He is now advertising to sell body Brussels a $1 25 a yard and tapestry at $1. This is the cheapest offer for carpets that has ever been made in Carson. Cohn announces that from this on all dry goods stores will be as chaff before the wind to him or a reed stricken by the tempest. He means to plant the standard of low prices in a place where it can be seen by all and defies all competition. His new announcement can be found in the APPEAL.

Born.

The Governor's Dilemma.

Under the new law the Governor is commander-in-chief of the combined army and navy of the State, including marines, foot soldiers, cavalry and raw recruits. Under the new law, also, Storey county can have but two companies of infantry, and the Governor must disband three companies. Two are willing to disband at any time, but there are three remaining and all want to stay. One is Irish, one is Cornish and one American. Somebody must be slighted, and the Governor, who has "future political aspirations," has been studying the matter over and laying awake nights trying to solve the problem of disbanding a company and not losing any votes. He has talked with his preceptor, Garrard, and communed with Counsellor Healy on the subject. A few days ago he hit upon a smooth and easy way of throwing the responsibility on somebody else's shoulders. So he wrote to Cap. Mathewson to inspect the companies and report to him which were the two most efficient. He can disband one, and if they make a row about it he can refer the matter to Cap. Mathewson and get along without any trouble.

Who Did the Work.

The Walker Lake Bulletin gives the APPEAL credit for having passed some bills during session of the Legislature which materially benefits the press throughout the State. Permit us to say in this connection that Assemblyman Thomas Wells was the man who, by skillful parliamentary tactics, snatched the delinquent tax bill from the grave after it had been beaten through a misunderstanding, and J. Campbell, of the Walker Lake Bulletin, steered the bill requiring the advertising of County Commissioners' expenditures safely through both Houses until it became a law. If other newspaper men would come to Carson and devote their time and money to looking after the interests of the press, as Mr. Campbell did last Winter, journalism would be on a sounder footing in Nevada than now. In the same connection it hardly seems the thing that newspapers who have been so materially benefitted by Hon. Thos. Wells' work for them, should turn about and abuse him because some anonymous, cowardly scallawags are venting their spleen on him for assisting in removing the county seat to Hawthorne.

A Promising Man.

Lieutenant Governor Laughlin may be called a promising man. When making a fight for the Wardenship of the Penitentiary he began to concentrate the elements by promising this man and that man lucrative position under his management. He swept everything before him and it seemed as if he had almost won his fight, when the various officers began to compare votes. They found that he had pledged himself by the great horned moon to appoint at least fifty Commissioners, about one hundred guardsmen and seventy-five book keepers. The conspirators at once fell apart, and with a quality of gall worthy of a better cause he at once tackled the Library proposition.

The City Elections.

There has seldom been much interest taken in city elections in Carson, but last year there was enough excitement worked up to make it interesting and there will be just the same sort of a contest at the polls this year. Let us have a good lively election that all may take a hand and enjoy themselves.

The latest foolishness is to ask a man if he can draw a cat and then laugh at him for getting the tail in the wrong place.

A Succession of Misfortunes!

There is something peculiar about the successions of misfortunes which during the past few months have followed H. T. Tucker, whose wife was buried last Sunday. Some months ago he was ready to be married and on the day before the ceremony was to have been performed the house of his prospective father-in-law burned to the ground. Mr. Tucker was stopping at the house at the time, and beside losing his wardrobe, $1,000 in greenbacks belonging to him was also burned. The bride lost all her jewelry and an expensive bridal outfit. Tucker took his losses philosophically and so did his intended. She being still left to him he pushed out into the world again, secured a position in the Legislature, and after the adjournment a position under Warden Bell at the State Prison. He then got married and brought his wife to Carson. Inside of a week she was taken sick with scarlet fever and he nursed her all day and was at his post at night at the prison. His loss of sleep, however, was more than he could bear, having been up nearly fifty hours. He was found asleep at his post and there was nothing left to do under the rules but discharge him. He went home that morning and in a few hours more his bride of two weeks was dead.

More of Marker's Bull.

Some weeks ago the APPEAL published an account of the day after it occurred of the killing of a Chinaman on Senator Marker's ranch by the goring of a bull. Other papers which were not enterprising enough to get the news in their own county, to say nothing of an adjoining one, hinted that the story was a rookback. Yesterday's Reno Journal tells us more about the doings of the same bull. It says:

Senator Marker had a narrow escape from death yesterday afternoon at his home in Washoe City. Our readers will remember that only a short time ago Marker's bull gored a Chinaman to death. Yesterday the Senator let the bull loose in the corral and the vicious animal attacked him, Pete defending himself with a pitchfork, which he stuck into its nose. The enraged brute threw Pete into the air and broke his right arm. The Senator also received internal injuries, but how severe is not known. Dr. Bergman, of Reno, and Dr. Branson, of Virginia, were telegraphed for, and hastened to Washoe last night. The Journal sincerely hopes that the Senator's injuries will not prove fatal.

A Flood of Immigration.

The tide of immigration is at its flood. An army is now moving westward from the older States, greater in numbers than any that has preceded it for many years. Says the Gazette. Fourteen car loads of homeseekers have passed Reno in the last 36 hours. In one train there were more than 500 persons, young and old, most of them from Colorado. This is somewhat singular, and seems to indicate that Colorado is overdone and cannot support the immigration that rolled in upon it a year or two ago. It is said that at least 50,000 persons will come to this coast during the ensuing season to look for homes in California, Oregon and Washington Territory.

Those humbugging astronomical circulars from the Warner observatory are out again offering a prize of $200 for each new comet discovered. The observatory has been offering these prizes for years to advertise a quack medicine. Barnum is hunting the man who ever got paid the $200, intending to carry him about the country as a curiosity.

Jasper Babcock went below last night for a three week's trip through California and to pay a visit to his children.

It Should be Remedied.

Complaint is general along the line of the Carson & Colorado railroad about the delay in the delivery of mail matter. A railroad 225 miles in length certainly merits a postal clerk, and the authorities at Washington should see that it had one. Were this the case there would be no need for letters traveling to Carson and back, that they may be delivered at a point one-quarter of the distance from where mailed to that city. In some cases the letters require prompt and immediate delivery, and until Uncle Sam grants the desired service all such letters should be sent through the express.—True Figure.

The Combs Case.

All day yesterday was spent in listening to the arguments in the Combs case. N. Soderberg opened in the morning and spoke until 3 in the afternoon. He demanded that General Clarke should follow, but the Court overruled and District Attorney Torreyson followed. General Kittrell then spoke for his client and held that it was the usual procedure to have the District Attorney close the case. The Court overruled the objection and General Kittrell will resume his speech this morning. After which General Clarke will close for the prosecution.

An Expert's Opinion.

Wells Drury, who has been considered for many years to stand as a beer expert in the same position held by Dan De Quille as a meteorologist, a few days ago came out upon the broad platform that the beer manufactured by Jake Klein of this city was superior to all known brands. For some years Drury leaned toward the Boca, but after drinking two hundred barrels of each, now gives his verdict for Carson. Drury can tell blindfolded any brand of beer made west of New York.

An Informality.

It now turns out that the bill creating the Mason Valley land slide was not signed by the Secretary of State, as the law directs, but by the Deputy Secretary. It is claimed that the lack of the proper signature affects the legality of the bill and the chances are that the three votes for U. S. Senator so cunningly fished for by Jewett Adams will after all be delivered to some good Republican. The man's phenomenal luck appears to have deserted him.

Pardons Granted.

The following pardons have been granted by the Board of Pardons: Mary Boyington, Washoe, arson; L. J. Rozenburg, Humboldt, resisting an officer; John Myatt, Elko, murder in second degree; George De Long, Washoe, murder in second degree. A number of others were refused at the meeting yesterday morning.

Supposed to be Drowned.

On Sunday last G. Herbert and a man named Roy, both French Canadians, started across lake Tahoe in a boat and have not since been heard from. Yesterday the boat was found bottom upwards and the voyagers are supposed to be drowned.

Andy Wright received a dispatch yesterday from Helena, Montana, announcing the death of Philo W. Rice, an old Carsonite. The remains will be forwarded to this city.

Congressman Cassidy has given the appointment of the West Point cadetship to a son of General P. Edward Connor, of Eureka.

The Zephyr Club of this city and the Artillery Club of Virginia will play a match game of base ball at Treadway's Park on Sunday next.

Be sure and register for the coming city election.
